PREFACE.

Knowledge is not power until it is expressed. The object of school life is to begin the practice of expression. Expression involves speech, movements of limbs and face, acts of civility, kindness. These should be uppermost in the teacher's mind while pupils are under training. Give less attention to facts and watch the pupil.

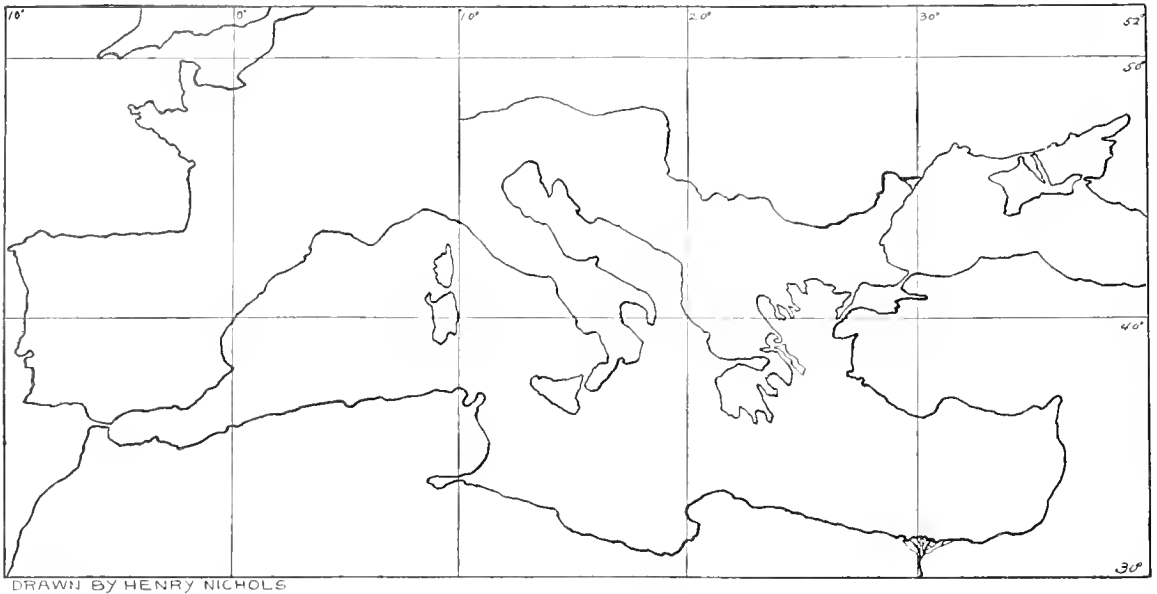

The object of this History Method is to enable the pupil to hold the interest of an audience of fellow pupils by a short speech on a subject of which he knows more than they, and in language which is not only correct but elegant.

History, aside from its other pedagogical advantages, presents the finest field for language-training, and in the process one incidentally acquires facts, taste for reading, patriotism.

F. W. NICHOLS.
